She stoops . . .

Old English comedy offered by BYU Speech Department

"She Stoops to Conquer," a classic comedy of "merrie ole England" by Oliver Goldsmith, will be presented by the BYU Speech Department March 24, 25, 29 and 30.

Due to the annual high school drama festival on March 31 and April 1, it is necessary to divide the days of presentation. There will be a special performance for the participants of the drama festival Saturday, April 1.

Jolene Terry, already recognized as an actress in the "Skin Game," was the lead in this latest speech department production. Playing opposite Miss Terry is Richard Coney, as bashful young Marlow. A freshman from Idaho Falls, Idaho, this is Richard's first role in a BYU production.

Larson elected 'veep' of Utah league writers

Clyton F. Larson, instructor in English at Brigham Young University, was elected state vice president of the "League of Utah Writers."

Mr. Larson was vice president of the Provo organization before his election to the state position. Membership is only for published writers to enter.

He has had various short stories and poems published. In the July, 1949 issue of Western Humanities Review, appeared one of his poems, "Painstaking Trees." Another will appear in the next issue of the same magazine.

'Waltz' selected theme for Prom; dates set for March 3-April 1

"The Great Waltz" is to reign as the theme of the Junior Prom slated for March 31 and April 1 recently announced Bob Zabriske, chairman of the annual event. It will be held in the Joseph Smith ballroom.

The Rainbow Rave orchestra, Murray Jones and his boys from Salt Lake, will provide the music for the two night stand.

Tickets for the prom are going on sale at noon, March 14. Only 500 tickets will be available—250 each night. They will sell for $4.50. Men who wish to rent tuxedos will have their measurements taken when they buy their tickets.

Special features of the dance will be the revolving line and buffet supper. Unique favors have also been chosen.

President Smith and Mrs. Smith and Governor and Mrs. Lee are among the special dignitaries who have been invited.

Bob Zabriske is being assisted in the planning of the big affair by Jarrett Jarvis, Dave Chadwick, Colleen Collins, Charlotte Cannon, Barbara Reisch, Don L. Peterson, Rosemary Phillips, Harriet Robinson, Lillian Schipper, Jan Fern, Pat Mason, Ee-Mona Kirkham, Ruth Schupper, Mary Kellie, Pat Quinn, Barbara Winkler, Sally Kirkham and Dorothy Cramer.

Committees organized for the event are tuxedos, floorshow, tickets, advertising, assembly, decorations and refreshments.

Parking lot readied to handle over 500 vehicles

A new graveled parking lot is being brought to completion between the Stadium and North Building on the north side of the Brigham Young University campus.

The parking lot will have an approximate capacity for 500 cars and is expected to be ready for use by Saturday, according to Leland M. Perry, supervisor of Building and Grounds.

The lot will greatly facilitate parking for athletic events as well as parking during the homecoming.

Work was begun on Monday when trucks began appearing on campus loaded with gravel and had gone on during the week along with leveling operations.

Next UNIVERSE—March 30

Due to financial difficulties together with final exams and Spring quarter registration this will be the last issue of the UNIVERSE until March 30.

Rare manuscripts seen with machine

Students will soon be able to read as much as 100 pages of rare manuscripts, all plainly inscribed on one three by five card and Mrs. Nettie Knight, circulation librarian.

The library recently purchased a micro-card machine which may show a great advancement over the micro-film. A small card with 50 pages of writing on one side can be inserted into the machine and the writing becomes plainly visible.

Extension to slate night registration

A schedule for Brigham Young University evening classes during the spring quarter is being printed and will be available by the end of the week, according to Dr. Harold Glen Clark, extension division.

Courses from a majority of the departments of the university are included in the night school schedule. Fees average approximately four dollars per credit hour.

Schedules will be mailed to all who send in a request. Dr. Clark said Registration will be held March 29 during regular school hours and from 7 to 9 p.m. that evening.

Classes will open March 27. Classes will begin as early as 4 p.m. and will continue until 9:30 p.m. The majority of the classes will begin at 7 p.m.

Spring quarter enrollment will top over 6000

Registration of several hundred new students spring quarter is expected to put Brigham Young University's total residence enrollment for the 1949-50 school year over the 6000 mark, according to Dr. Wesley F. Lloyd, dean of students.

All regular registration for spring quarter will be held on March 29, and March 31. Regular students registering later than March 31 will be charged late registration fees, Dean Lloyd said.

A new arrangement—special students registration from 7 to 9 p.m. as well as during school hours on March 29—will let day workers register without paying late fees. Special students registering later than March 29 must pay the late fee.

Students will register in the following alphabetical order: Monday, March 20: 8:00-8:45 a.m., K, L, 8:45-9:15 a.m., M to M inclusive; 9:15-10:00, Mc to My inclusive; 10:00-10:30, N, O, 10:30-11:00, P, Q, 11:00-11:30, R, 11:30-2:00, Ss to Ss inclusive; 2:00-2:30, Ss to Ss inclusive; 2:30-3:00, T, U, V, W, X, Y, Z.

Tuesday, March 21: 8:00-8:30, A; 8:30-9:00, Bs to Bb inclusive; 9:00-9:30, Bb to Bz inclusive; 9:30-10:00, Cc to Cc inclusive; 10:00-10:30, Cc to Cc inclusive; 10:30-11:00, D, 11:00-11:30, E, 11:30-2:00, G, 2:00-2:30, Hs, 2:30-3:00, He to Y inclusive; 3:00-3:30, I, J.

ON LYCEUM SCHEDULE—The dePaar Infantry Chorus was given enthusiastic reception last evening for their rendition of favorite American ballads that proved entertaining.

Concert 'grand slam' slated on weeks program schedule

The words of the popular song, "The Best Things in Life are Free," can readily be applied to the Brigham Young University Lyceum Series, at least as far as BYU students are concerned.

With a student body card as a pass, BYU students can see some of the world's best literary and musical artists, an opportunity that is unexcelled on the campuses of American colleges, according to Harold E. Clark, director of the series.

Already nineteen of the scheduled performers of the thirty program 1949-50 series have made appearances on the Provo stages. The remaining eleven programs give promise of being equally entertaining.

Four programs remain on the Winter Quarter agenda. The Pascal Quartet, which has recently returned from Europe, is the first of these. They will present the regular Thursday assembly and will make their second appearance on Friday evening, in the Provo tabernacle at 8:15 p.m.

The Pascal Quartet consisting of Jacques Dumont, first violin; Maurice Curt, second violin; Robert Salles, cello; and Leon Pascal, viola; was born in 1940. All of the musicians were artists in their own right before Mr. Pascal sug-

Heifetz appears for first time in lyceum series

The world's most sought after instrumentalist, Jascha Heifetz, will be a feature of the 1950-51 Brigham Young University-Community Concert series, according to Professor John C. Swenson, vice president of the association. According to Professor Swenson, 1950-51 year should be one of the most attractive in the more than 30 years that he has been associated with the series. One of the oldest and most outstanding activities of its kind, the BYU-Community Concert Series was started in 1918 as the Provo Polytechnical Society with James E. Talmadge, churchman and writer and former BYU professor, as one of the leaders of the movement.

The annual membership campaign for the association will begin the week of April 10, according to Professor Swenson.

The appearance of Heifetz has been scheduled for January 8, 1951, and will be the first number of the winter quarter series. Utah has been unusually lucky in securing the services of the world-famous violinist, who scrutinizes his rather limited concert engagements personally before making acceptances.

Attempts to bring him here started several years ago, but have been unsuccessful until this year, Professor Swenson said.

gusted the merger. Following their service in the French Army during the Second World War, they were made the official quartet of the French National Radio, over which they present a series of concerts besides touring the continent.

Thirty-five singing veterans known as the dePaar Infantry Chorus will perform in the Provo tabernacle, Thursday, March 9, 8:15 p.m.

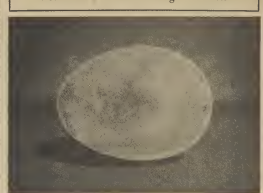

The Fine Arts Quartet, who have skyrocketed to success in their short years, will appear in concert at the Provo tabernacle on Tuesday, March 14, at 8:15 p.m.

Clifford Curzon, the English pianist, is slated to appear at the Provo tabernacle on Monday, March 20, at 8:15 p.m.

Delta Phi chorus prepares southern Utah, Nevada tour

The Delta Phi chorus is in for a busy weekend between quarters. The sixty-five voice male chorus that is sponsored by the BYU chapter of the returned missionary fraternity has been invited to give a concert in Las Vegas Saturday evening, March 18, according to Grant Evans, president.

The chorus is directed by Harvey Mette of Jacksonville, Florida and has gained much recognition for its presentation of sacrament meetings in wards of the church in Utah and Idaho.

As soloists the chorus presents Von Packard, Grant Evans, Mary Martineau, and "Red" Andrus. The sisters Pauline and Claire Dyring perform as a duet and the Hecceury Sorority for returned lady missionaries sponsor a ladies sextet that performs with the chorus on many occasions.

In route to Las Vegas the group will take part in a special temple session in the St. George temple of the LDS church. The chorus has visited other temples on their various tours through Idaho and Utah and will take this opportunity to continue visiting the temples of the church. In returning to Provo the chorus will perform at communities in route.

Writers, authors heed varsity script due April 1

A word of warning to all aspiring but poor authors—April 1 is the last date that scripts will be accepted for the annual Varsity Show, and the prize this year is higher than ever before, $75.

The council office reports that one script has been turned in already and that several people around campus are preparing other scripts.

The Varsity Show is one of the big events of the year at the Y but was not held last year because of lack of scripts.

AMS to mark St. Patrick's day with big vaudeville, dancing

March 17, an every good Irishman knows, is St. Patrick's Day and this year the AWS is inviting the whole school to come help them celebrate the event with their annual vaudeville show and dance.

Blarney will be flying thick and fast around Keeley's 23rd St. Theatre (J. S. Auditorium) about 7:30 p.m. and Irish harkers will be at work to let the crowd know that the show is about to begin.

Marjory Balliff, chairman of the dance which will follow the show, stated that the dance theme will be "Rise Haven." Barbara Rumney and Janet Larsen are working on the decorations. Dance tickets will be sold in the Smith Lobby for 75c a couple.

Danahelle Adcox will M. C. the Show and the "Irish Interlude" will begin with an overture by the Bricklefritz Band. The committee, headed by Carol Corder, is working to get the real old time vaudeville flavor into the evening.

Tryouts will be Thursday, March 9 at 7:00 p.m. in 250 C, and the dress rehearsal is scheduled for March 11.

The final judging will be done on the basis of originality, presentation, including music and dialogue, costuming, and general entertainment value. Other things considered will include dramatic ability, adherence to theme, polish, stage presence and tempo.

Hawaiian debaters to test Y team forensic talents

Paul L. Ng, Honolulu, Hawaii and Eddie Durham, Orem have been selected to oppose the debate squad from the University of Hawaii on the question "Resolved that the United States should establish an economic and military pact with the nations of the Pacific."

Due to the fact that today's edition of the Universe is the only one before the day of the debate, it is not possible to print the names of the Hawaiian debaters at the University of Hawaii is still in the process of conducting eliminations to determine who shall represent them.

Program group is readied for interstate jaunt

Northern and southern Utah, Arizona, Idaho, and Nevada will once again welcome Brigham Young University's student program troupe in the annual jaunt. Bob Keste, president of the BYU student program bureau, stated that the troupe will leave March 18.

Four groups of 12 to 14 students each will make the tour. All performances will be variety shows, including dancing, musical numbers, and comedy acts.

One of the troupes will visit San Valley, Boise, Twin Falls, and other eastern Idaho towns. A show will be given at the Southern Idaho College of Education, Roy, King, Boise, Ida., and Dick Moody, Mesa, Ariz., are co-chairmen of this tour.

Pattie Crawley, La Canada, Cal. will lead another unit to Mt. Pleasant, Morenci, Panguitch, Kanab, Ephraim, and other towns on that route as far as Fredonia, Ariz. A show will also be presented at Snow College.

Bob Keste will be in charge of the third troupe, which will perform in Fillmore, Beaver, and Cedar City, Utah, and Las Vegas, Boulder City and Henderson, Nev.

Announcement of this public debate evoked the following comments from Dr. Alonzo Morley, chairman of the debate council and Western Governor of Tau Kappa Alpha (national debating society) Western district. "This might be the beginning of getting debate back to the people where it belongs. The public should have the privilege of hearing the product of some of the best minds."

Oldtimers on campus and in Provo will probably recall the public debates that were held with Princeton University, University of Southern California and others in College Hall.

The debate with Princeton University was held on December 22, 1920 with a capacity filling crowd of students and townspeople in attendance. Representing BYU on the negative were Ernest L. Wilkinson, George S. Balluff, and E. H. Harter.

The debate topic was "Resolved that the United States should pass a law prohibiting strikers in essential industries, constitutionally waived."

Tentative plans for the fourth troupe, under the direction of Ray Durfin, Tooele, Ut., call for a trip to Moab, Mitsuella, and Southeast points.

More jobs open for civil service people

The U. S. Civil Service Commission has announced an examination for Archivists, Assistant and Library Assistant, $2,450 to $3,100 a year, Herbarium Aid, (Plant Mounting), $2,450 and $2,850 a year and Museum Aid, $2,450 to $3,225 a year. The positions to be filled are in Washington D. C., and vicinity.

To qualify for these positions, applicants must pass a written test and, in addition must have had pertinent experience or education or a combination of such experience and education.

Detailed information and application forms may be obtained from most first and second-class post offices, from Civil Service regional offices, or from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C. Applications should be sent to the Commission's Washington office and must be received not later than March 21, 1960.

Class enters on experimental try next week

Dean Woodruff asked to educational meet

Dr. Asabel D. Woodruff, graduate school dean at Brigham Young University will act as a consultant on evaluation at a collegiate home economics workshop slated for March 17 and 18 in Salt Lake City.

Colleges from all over the western division are scheduled to send representatives to the workshop.

A new experimental English course entitled "Current Drama" will be offered at Brigham Young University during the Spring and Summer quarters, according to Dr. P. A. Christensen, chairman of the English department.

The course will be taught by Rolfe Peterson, instructor in English who received his master's degree at Columbia University recently.

The new course will consist of approximately 13 plays of the past two seasons on Broadway which exhibit literary or artistic merit. Television drama will also be part of the instruction since Dr. Peterson worked in television last year and will point out its potentialities as a dramatic medium.

Some of the plays to be studied are "A Streetcar Named Desire," "Death of a Salesman," "Mr. Roberts," "Mad Woman of Chaillot," and "Annie of a Thousand Days." The class will be for two hour credit.

Fighting Cats tip Denver sport 21 wins, 11 defeats

by Fred Radichol
UNIVERSE Sports Editor

BYU's fighting Cougars did the most against the two toughest teams in the top, the Provo five made a shambles of each contest early in the first half, and went on in the second period to easy victories.

The Cougars have been so hot that no team has come within ten points of them for against the two toughest teams in the top, the Provo five made a shambles of each contest early in the first half, and went on in the second period to easy victories.

No single hero can be chosen from the team that made its stretch drive pay off. Joe Nelson, at his greatest in the two Wyoming games, proved to one and all that he is of All-American calibre. Mel Hutchins, the big, graceful center, worked his magic off the boards in all the tilts. Roland Minson capped his return to last season's form with a brilliant 19 point performance against Denver in the championship game.

The guards came in for a large share of the credit, too. Jack Whipple scintillated with his peerless floorwork amid thread-needle shooting. Dick Jones, lone the forgotten member of the BYU outfit, was the man of the hour with his defensive performance and timely shooting.

Couach Stan Watts had his opponents carefully analyzed, and to him must go a major portion of the credit for producing a conference champion. His men seemed to echo this opinion when they triumphantly carried him off the floor last Monday night. The defense that the Cats wove about Wyoming and their murderous fast break were products of his coaching skill.

The Cougars started their season like the championship team that pre-season bluffs had built them up to be. The team swept through six straight games, taking the conference tourney en route, before losing their first of the season to Pepperdine at the Los Angeles Invitational Tournament.

The Cats lost four more before they took their evasive seventh victory of the season from Loyola of Chicago. This gave them a pre-season record of seven wins and five losses.

To the disappointment of all the fans, the Cougars then opened their conference schedule with two losses to Wyoming at Laramie, the second one a humiliating 53-27 setback. But the team rebounded nicely to beat Denver, 63-45, the first of eight straight wins.

That slain, in turn, came to an abrupt halt when the Cats traveled east to face Denver and Colorado A & M

BYU romps over Pioneers in conference finale

by Dan Clay

The Brigham Young Cougars copped the Conference crown Monday night by romping over the Denver Pioneers 75-50, at Springfield thus ending one of the wildest conference races in many years.

The Cats did it the hard way by winning their last six games while Wyoming and Denver cut each other's throats, lost to Utah and Utah State respectively and then fell before an inspired BYU five.

Monday night the Cougars took a few minutes to get warmed up but after that they were unstoppable. Denver jumped off to a 4-0 lead before Jack Whipple put the Cats into the scoring column with a set shot. The lead

Cougars receive NCAA invite for four team K.C. tournament

BYU will be one of the eight teams competing for the NCAA basketball championship this season as a result of their winning the Skyline Six championship. The District Seven bid has traditionally gone to the league champion.

The western regionals of the NCAA will be held at Kansas City on March 24 and 25. The winner and runner-up of the eliminations will travel to New York City to face the eastern regional champ and second place winner on March 28.

None of BYU's opponents at the Kansas City bouts have been chosen yet. Here is the rundown of the last available information.

District Five: A playoff between Bradley and Kansas

State will decide this bid.

District Six: A playoff between the Border Conference and Southwest Conference champions usually determines the bid. Baylor and Arkansas are Southwest conference co-champs, Arizona leads the Border Conference, but has accepted an Invitational bid.

District Eight: A playoff between UCLA, southern Pacific Coast champ, and Washington State, northern titlist, will provide the district representative.

BYU will be up against tough competition at Kansas City. Bradley is currently ranked as the nation's number one outfit. Kansas State, UCLA and Washington State are all ranked among the top 20.

Should the Cougars survive the western playoffs, their opponents may be Ohio State, Holy Cross, or North Carolina State, all of them top-flight teams. The boys from Provo will have hit the big time.

The team has an additional incentive to do well at Kansas City, since BYU did not make its regular trip back to the Garden and Philby this season. A good showing in the east would help their next year's scheduling, also. All in all, the Cats have a lot at stake in the NCAA tournament.

Cowboys happy to leave Utah after 3 pastings

by Dal Burnett

The Wyoming Cowboys came to Utah last Thursday parked right on top of the Skyline Six basketball pile. Sunday the Pioneers from Laramie left the Beehive state with three disastrous losses to their credit and a third spot in the conference race as their reward.

Utah's Redskins started things rolling with a 39-30 win over Wyoming on Thursday, and then Brigham Young followed up by facing the Cowpokes 55-44 Friday night and 72-50 Saturday evening.

Couach Ev Shelton's Wyoming quintet found the Cougars playing almost to perfection, as the Cats shot, passed, and dribbled the Poles dizzy.

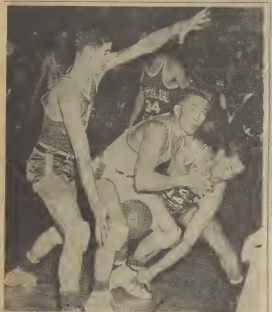

The Cougars won both ball games on the basis of an outstanding performance from every member of the club. For Nelson found the hoop for 23 points on Friday and 17 on Saturday to tip the Y scores, but Dick Jones, Jack Whipple, Roland Minson and Mel Hutchins, the other Cat starters, played their parts to perfection.

UTAH STAR IN ACTION—Glen Smith, Utah soph center and UNIVERSE all-conference selection guards Roland Minson.

BYU'S CHAMPS

Here are the men who brought BYU its second Skyline Six title in three years.

The Seniors

JOE NELSON—22 years old, 6 ft 2 in., 175 lbs. All-conference selection for his last three years he was the team's top scorer.

JACK WHIPPLE—22 years old, 5 ft 10 in., 160 lbs. One of the top ball runners in the conference he sparked the team in its last six wins.

IVAN BEEM—22 years old, 6 ft 4 in., 192 lbs. "Ike" the old rebounder, has been one of the Cat's deadliest reserves.

D. RAY FULLMER

—22 years old, 6 ft, 8 in., 170 lbs. D. Ray hurt himself in the last game of the pre-season tour and didn't see much action, but he has been a stand-out for the past three seasons.

The Juniors

ROLAND MINSON—20 years old, 6 ft, 0 in., 160 lbs. Minny came back with a late season spurt just when the team needed him most.

MEL HUTCHINS

—21 years old, 6 ft 5 in., 190 lbs. Mel is the tallest 6 ft 5 in. in the country and proved it with his amazing play off the boards all season.

Four teams place men on first five

BYU and Wyoming dominated the voting for the UNIVERSE all-conference team, much in the same way that they, and Denver, dominated the entire season. Denver, with a well-balanced starting five, got one man on the first five. Utah filled the fifth spot on the starting five, while Utah State and Colorado A&M each placed a man on the second five.

Points were given on the basis of two points for a first team vote and one point for a second team vote. Leading the point-getters were Joe Nelson and Mel Hutchins, both unanimous choices for first string berths.

Dale Toft, Denver sophomore, and John Pilch, Wyoming senior, both got 23 points, eleven first team ballots and one second team vote.

The fight for the fifth spot was fairly close, with Glen Smith, Utah's top center, leading out Glen Anderson, Colorado A&M center, 18-14. Smith got six first string votes to two for Anderson. Both were on all the ballots.

On the second five with Anderson are Loy Doly of Wyoming (12), Boaz Minson of BYU (13), Ken Berrett of Utah State (6), and Arnie Flinn of Wyoming (6). Doly had three first team votes, Minson two, and Berrett one.

The starting five is young and fairly tall. Three of the men chosen are centers on their teams. The fact that two sophomores are on the starting five is unusual in itself.

Included on the board choosing the team were Dick Ricks, Cliff Olmstead, Lee Stratford, Edwin Battersworth, Dave Weiser, Conrad Judd, Dave Schulthess, Bob Crockett, Del Burnett, Dan Clay, Lew Nielsen and Fred Radichel.

If you didn't know, BYU first, Denver, Pokes top second

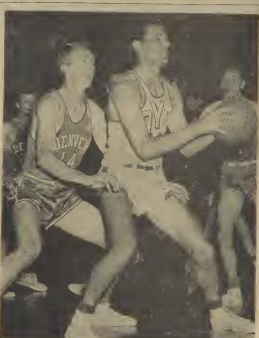

BYU was officially crowned as Skyline Six basketball champion last Monday night when the Cougars defeated the Denver Pioneers, 75-58, to break up a first place tie in the final game of the season for both sides. It was a near repeat performance for the Cats, who won the title in 1946, but dropped to fourth place last season.

The conference race could not have been planned in a way to make the finish of the race more exciting than the schedule inadvertently arranged it. With 19 games gone, both the BYU and Denver teams had 13-6 marks. BYU came through to take all the blue chips.

Wyoming tied for second spot in the league Tuesday, winning from Colorado A&M 58-42. Utah State, which played some of the spottiest ball in the loop, nabbed fourth place honors, followed by Utah and Colorado A&M. The Rams' only two wins were over BYU, the conference champs. The league was that well balanced.

Final statistics are not yet available at the time this paper goes to press, but BYU will probably rank as the top offensive team in the league, with Wyoming's Cowboys pacing the defensive outfits.

BASKET BY JOE NELSON—Joe Nelson displays the form that gave him two conference scoring championships in three seasons while Ronnie Johnson of Denver tries vainly to stop him.

Denver
changed hands four times before Joe Nelson tied the count at 9 apiece with a foul conversion. Roland Minson talked on a lay-up and the Pioneers could never catch up again.

Paul Hickey managed to keep Denver somewhat in the running with his accurate shooting from outside. The Cougars led at 20-12, 25-14, 28-18 and near the end of the first half broke through for eight straight points and a 37-21 halftime advantage.

The second half saw the Cougars get off to a slow start but Denver could do little better. With the score standing at 45-29 the Cats hit from all sides and ran the count to 70-41. Here the reserves took over with about four minutes remaining.

Minson, who had scored 10 points, took over with a lay-up and a foul shot. He finished out his brilliant career, to the home fans anyway, in a blaze of glory. Roland Minson was second high man with 19 points. Minnie was at his season's best making good on 8 shots in 17 attempts.

Paul Hickey and Dale Tots shared third place scoring honors with 18 apiece. Hickey, a senior, played his last college game on Monday night and it was possibly his best.

The game Pioneers were no match for BYU as they appeared beaten, as Wyoming had also, before the game even got under way. The Cougars looked classy and displayed that same fine shooting eye that has carried them through their last few games.

One of the highlights of the game was "Tiny" Toone's first basket of the conference season and another was D. Ray Fullmer's only shot of the conference race, a one hand leave from about 60 feet out in the dying seconds of the game.

The box score appears below.

Nelson finishes BYU career, leads scoring

Joe Nelson, to the surprise of absolutely no one, wound up with all sorts of scoring crowns for the 1949-50 season. In addition to taking the conference point title, Joe also capped the team honors with a total of 419 points, though he played in three less games than the rest of the team.

Nelson was followed closely by his fellow forward, Roland Minson, who has his last game again lately after a mid-season slump, tallied 383 points. Mel Hutchins, the third member of BYU's potent scoring trio, bagged 320.

All of the Cougars broke into the scoring column, although Tiny Toone waited till the last minutes of the last conference game of the season to dunk a bucket in loop play.

The guards divided scoring honors rather evenly, with Bob Craig taking the top mark of 149 markers. Jerry Remmey had 116, but oddly enough, neither Craig nor Remmey were starting at the end of the season.

Here are the statistics.	G	P	F	A	Pts.

Wyoming

In Friday night's contest Coach Stan Watts crew chalked up a narrow 24-20 half-time advantage, largely through the efforts of Nelson, who hit for 15 points in that initial canto. Hutchins and Minson started connecting in the second half and the Cougars pulled out of danger. Hutchins and Minson ended the evening with 11 and 10 point total, respectively.

With the exception of Arnie Finn and Loy Doty, the Cowboys were almost completely bottled up by the Y defenders Finn rang the bell for 19 points on long shots and several beautiful under-handed drive-in shots. Doty came up with 10 markers to his credit.

Jones was the outstanding BYU defensive man as he limited Wyoming's rained John Plich to two field goals and a total of seven points.

Jerry Reed, the Pokes' six-foot pivot man, was held scoreless by Hutchins.

Finn and Plich of Wyoming and the Y's Minson all fouled out in Friday's fray.

The Cougars came back on Saturday night to finish up a good job by literally whitewashing the rattled Pioneers, 70-52. With only six minutes gone the Cougars sported an 18-7 lead, and by the half-way mark that was upped to 38-7.

To pick an individual star for the Saturday contest would be a difficult task. Ten BYU actors broke into the scoring column and everyone on the 15 man squad saw action.

Jack Whipple was a buzz-saw on defense and added 11 points to the Y offensive total. Nelson converted nine out of 11 free throws and bucketed four field goals to lead the Cougars scorers with 17 markers.

It was Arnie Finn again who kept the Pokes anywhere within shouting distance of the steamed-up Cats. He blasted the hoop for 18 points. Doty, however, fouled out in the first half trying to stop the scoring antics of Nelson. Jones, who also left the game via fouls, and Jerry Remmey combined to put another seven point maximum on Plich.

Mel Hutchins had another 11 point evening besides cooling off the Wyoming scoring punch with his backboard work. Although he only hit for nine counters, hustling Roland Minson played his usual fine ball-hawking game.

Too many elbows put Plich on the bench again towards the end of the contest.

44 FRED BARIENEL

We've never had a happier job than thinking about pounding out this column. It's always a pleasure to pass out compliments, and we have nothing but compliments to pass out to the basketball team. We've never seen such teamwork.

Take the case of Joe Nelson, for instance. While Toft's mates were feeding the redhead in an attempt to keep him ahead of Nelson in the conference scoring race, Joe was passing off to Minson and Hutchins for easy lay-ins, though the game score was no longer close. Joe played the greatest ball of his career these past three games, and nobody watching could have doubted his All-American caliber.

But we don't merely want to say what many other writers (with later deadlines and earlier press times) have already come into print with. (Did anyone notice what that last sentence ended with? Ye zads, again!). We do have a few items, however, which may have escaped the notice of other aspiring journalists.

The BYU freshman team seemed to hit its stride in the last three games of the season just as their big brothers on the varsity did. The 92 point total against Hill Field must stand as some kind of a record.

We don't want to appear unkind to the Kittens' opponents, but the best game of the weekend was the intra-squad tilt played Monday night after the Carbon College battle (?). As one of our companions remarked, "Gee, you'd think it was their last game of the season the way they're playing." P. S. — it was.

The depth and talent of the frosh squad bodes well for the varsity next season, though it will cause Stan Watts some sleepless nights when it comes to cutting the squad. And we can't leave the subject without mentioning that it was a typical Soffe-coached team. Meaning that they hustled every minute of every game.

The story of the Utah State freshman game two weeks ago had to be cut because of a shortage of space, or didn't you notice the advertising. Anyhow, in the Saturday night frosh game at Springville Don Malmrose upped the count to 70 with a last-second set that was one of the longest we've ever witnessed. Ozark let it rebound. Don's epic was shot from the right sideline a good fifteen feet beyond center court. It'll do till a longer one is shot.

D. Ray Fullmer's appearance for two minutes in the Denver game was a very nice sentimental gesture on the part of Stan Watts. Ray has been a standout during his career here at BYU, though he has had the misfortune to be playing with such forwards as Weight, Nelson, and Minnison. We've never seen a man play the game harder than

So when D. Ray got into the game, for his last home crowd showing, it made the evening complete. In Fullmer, Nelson, Whipple, and the old redhead, Ike Beem, the university is losing four fine basketball players.

No column would be complete without a few barbs. So here they come. We don't know what the idea was in having the students stand outside for an hour and a half last Monday. If someone does know, we wish he'd tell us.

The only reason we can think of concerns itself with the Health Center. Perhaps they were running short of patients. If they were, they won't be now. They ought to re-christen that street in front of the gym Pneumonia Gulch.

Then there's the little matter of selling student tickets. We don't know what the moral implications of the matter are, but it just seems kind of cheap to pick up tix for the purpose of selling them. And more so, when the selling is done by some student who has an official capacity.

Student tickets are supposed to be for the free use of the students. Selling the ducat to a non-student deprives a student of a chance to see the game. Selling one to a student—well, we don't want to use that kind of language in the paper. But we'll be glad to tell you in person if you'll come see us.

We hope that some arrangement can be doped out next season we're fairly sure to be back in dear old Springville) to thwart the easy money boys who deal in student tickets.

Now that the basketball season is nearly over, we'd like to thank Coaches Watts and Soffe and Athletic Director Kimball for the fine assistance they've always given us. It's made our job a lot easier in every way.

Weekend tilts produce Y
oddities list

by Dave Schulthess,
UNIVERSE editor

Now that the yelling has subsided to an ear-splitting roar we can look back on the Y's big weekend with a genial retrospect that won't stop. There were several highlights that will long be remembered. For instance:

For every two legitimate entries into the Gym there was at least one "angler" who devised ways and means of crashing the game. They were coming through the windows, hiding under mats, desaling up as Cosgarettes and in general giving both of Springfield's cops a bad time.

"I'm sorry, Ev, but there's nothin' in the rules says they can't."

national sports
BY DAN CLAY

Since this is our last chance for several weeks and since tournament time is upon us, let's give a run down of tournament happenings and try to pick a couple of all-something teams.

The Western NCAA tourney, scheduled for March 24, 25 at Kansas City holds the interests of most Skyline Six fans. The Eastern NCAA playoff will be held at Madison Square Garden on March 26 and 25. Finally the National Invitation Tournament gets under way at the Garden the week of March 11. But back to Kansas City.

Four teams will be represented in the Western playoffs. These four teams include the winner of the Big Seven, Nebraska leads at present; the Pacific Coast champ, more than likely UCLA; the winner between the Southwestern Conference champs and the Border Conference winners, probably Arizona; and finally the winner of last Monday night's BYU-Idaho at Springville. The winner at K.C. then travels to Madison Square Garden for finals against the Eastern NCAA title holders on March 29.

With the tournament happenings out of the way let's try our hand at picking an all-American quintet. Our first five include two Bob's, two Paul's, and a Sherman, not a General. The first of the Bob's is Bob Cousy (same as lousy) from Holy Cross. He has been the big man in basketball record that has been hung up by the Crusaders to date. Our second Bob is Bob Lavy from Western Kentucky who is currently in second place among the nation's major leading scorers.

The first of the Paul's is Paul Arlin, the Villanova ace. At present he is maintaining a 35 point per game average and is top scorer among major colleges. The second choice is Paul Unruh of Bradley. His great work makes him largely responsible for Bradley's position as the top team in the country. Roundly rated first in the country is the team of the Long Island University star, Sherman, the only Junior picked, has been busy breaking one kind of scoring record after another. He has won a New York district scoring title and has made a record of 30 points a game. He also marks for a single season and his team has won the Marshall college set a single game mark for the district. The rounds out our first five and what a five it is. There are many others.

Now we'll see what we can do to scrape up an all-conference squad. These teams are largely based on observations made at eight games played in the Springville Gym.

There has been some reference to the simile used involving Ingrid Bergman in last week's column. After reviewing the situation and "Stromboli" we feel that we might restate the accusation a bit more accurately. We therefore state that the gentleman in question obviously knows as much about rules of basketball as we do about press agents.

Byron "Tiny" Toone

The only thing that could have climaxed Monday night's list of thrills would have been Ray Fuller's desperation shot at the basket (a la Ozark). But Tiny Toone's pogo-tick gyrations following his basket made his two points look bigger than a dentist's hand.

Winning hands down in our umb Dora Derby was the AP's ection committee who, (in order to meet a deadline) picked all-conference team three weeks before the final game was played. Besides relegating Nelson second string, they had enough left over to nominate Sid an of Denver as the most outstanding player in the circuit.

Robbie lists cinder hopefuls

by Lee Stratford

This week is the official beginning of the BYU track season. Coach Clarence Robbie, is quite pleased with the men that have turned out thus far, and anticipates a good season.

"Robbie" urges that those who are eligible and desire to participate in track and field events, report for suits and shoes.

Some of the returning lettermen from last year are Dave Chadwick, Payette, Ida, Bob Morton, Bountiful, Walt Steffen, Boulder, U. Alf Huber, Mesquite, Nev., Bill Harmon, Los Angeles and Jim Hill of Provo.

Some of the former frosh track men and others who are coming up will be a great asset to the team. Some of these are:

Sprints
Fred Radichel, New York
Clyde Christensen, Springville 230 and 440

George Magnusson, South Gate, Calif.

Lee Bartlett, Mountain Home, Idaho.

Martin Spencer, Provo

Lee Nicholas, Orem.

A frosh track squad will also be selected out of those freshmen who report for track. Some of the outstanding frosh track turnouts are John Gourley, high jumper from Pleasant Grove;

Aldon Porter, hurdler from Preston, Ida.; Gordon Smith, discus thrower from Springville; Arlo and Orlando Larson, distance runners from Driggs, Ida.; Jack Lake a mileer from Calt, and Jack Peterson from Ida., who runs the 440.

The first track meet will be with the AC in Provo, April 18th.

The BYU Invitational track meet will be held the 28th and 29th of April.

Kittens go crazy...

Freshmen edge Snow JC, crush Hill Field with scoring spurge

Brigham Young University's freshman basketball team added victory 10 and 11 to their season record on Friday and Saturday nights as they edged out a hustling Snow Junior College quintet, 45-38 on Friday and swamped Hill Field 92-35 on Saturday.

In the Snow game Coach Wayne Sofie's greenlings turned the Springfield gym into an ice plant for the first six and a half minutes of the game. The Kittens couldn't have found the basket with radar they were so far off.

Snow took advantage of their apparent affect on the locals and jumped to an early lead. Bud Frampton dropped the first field goal for the BYU frosh and Joe Richey followed immediately with another two pointers, but at the half Snow held a 16-12 advantage.

The Kittens finally started to connect and by the time three minutes of the second half had elapsed they had the ball game tied up 24-24. Loren Dunn led the frosh scoring with 13 points. He was followed by Joe Richey and Don McIntosh with 12 and 11, respectively.

Arla Jensen, member of last year's Brigham Young freshman squad, paced the losers with 11 markers. Arla Jensen, no relation, contributed nine points for Snow.

The Hill Field cagers arrived late at Springfield Saturday night and would probably have been better off if they hadn't arrived at all—least from the standpoint of prestige.

The badly outclassed soldiers were never in the game and Coach Sofie showed no inclination to hold down the snow. Altogether, 11 of the frosh got into the scoring column, and five of them went into double figures.

Richey dropped in 17 points in a very short time. Nielsen hit 13, Taylor and Olsen both got 12, and Dunn contributed 11.

Dalley caps college wrestling career with Skyline Six heavyweight title win

Wyoming University walked away with the Skyline Six wrestling crown at Denver Saturday night, but Alvin Dalley, Brigham Young University's heavyweight, clinched three years of collegiate grappling by taking the conference title in his division.

The Cougar mat squad was fifth in the six team meet with six points. Wyoming's 47 points was tops, while Colorado A&M, the defending champs, grabbed off second with 27 points. Denver was third with 20, Utah was fourth with 11, and Utah State finished last behind the Cats with only three points.

Coach Reed Nilsen took only a

Atkinson gets sessions set

Coach "Chick" Atkinson stated that BYU's spring football season will officially get underway March 30, 4 p.m. at the stadium house. All boys who are interested in playing varsity football are invited to attend.

With six weeks of practice slated, Atkinson expects better results than in last year's spring session. The fact that only seven boys will have football to participate in other spring sports will help. Poodyry, Thiel, Burr, Hill and Bills will probably favor or baseball, while Chadwick and Norton will go out for track.

After losing 14 members of last year's squad, the team will be formed from the 20 returning lettermen and the freshmen who are able to gain a spot on the varsity eleven. Ned Alter, fast halfback, who missed the '49 season will be back for the spring practice. Four junior college transfers will also help to make a good squad.

Other losses to the team are Ralph Willett, freshly halfback, who is having an operation on his elbow, and Tim Kimball, who is on the doubtful list, due to a shoulder operation. Merrill Hardy will favor an LDS mission, so will be missing from the '50 squad.

Five man team to the conference meet. The four other BYU representatives and their classes included Ray Oliverston, 175, Bevan Haycock, 165, George Miller, 155, and Bill Hervey, 135.

Dalley went his way to the heavyweight title by beating Don Anderson, Colorado A&M on Friday, and then taking a decision from Bob Schlichtgen, Wyoming, in the finals. Lettermen and their divisions on this year's squad include Dick Phelps, 121, Stan Cardell, 128, Jarvis, 126, Calvin Price, 145, Alvin Taylor, 145, Miller, 155, Haycock, 165, Oliverston, 175, and Dalley, heavyweight.

Richey corrals fresh point lead

BYU's star-studded freshman team brought its season to a rearing close Monday night by crushing the Carbon JC five, 75-38. It marked the second game in a row that they had topped the Springfield scoreboard, which only goes up to 70.

Coach Wayne Sofie used two different teams Monday and both scored nearly at will. Joe Richey led the scorers, as he has so often this season, with 14 points, followed closely by Boyd Jarman with 13. Welch dunked 14 points for Carbon to tie Richey for game honors.

The Kittens ended their season with an impressive record of 11 wins and three losses. All their losses were subsequently reversed, coming at the hands of the Utah and Utah State freshman teams.

Season scoring statistics show that the team's leading scorer was Richey. Kannerup was Loren Dunn, and the third spot went to flashy Ralph Olsen.

Here are the final individual scoring statistics.

Canadians in hockey loop

Hockey may be the national sport of Canada, but it is gaining a spot in American sports. This year, for the first time in the history of Utah, a regular hockey league was attempted, other than the city leagues. Brigham Young's entry to this league is the Canadian Ice Skating rink at Salt Lake City, the hockey crave has spread. The Canadian club has played teams from Logan and Salt Lake City, who are also composed mainly of Canadians.

Although the Salt Lake team has as one of its members an Olympic star of last year who just arrived from Switzerland, the Y club has been able to take one game while losing two with this team. With the Logan crew, the Canadians have come out on top with a win and a tie to no losses.

The hockey team is composed of 13 BYU men who hail from Alberta, Canada, where most of the hockey professionals in the U.S. come from. The Canadian squad is composed of W. Brooks, L. Holscher, C. Brandlee, C. Gossage, J. Thibault, B. Kemper, J. Munson, M. Rice, R. Gilpin, D. Ward, L. Johnson and C. Anderson.

The men from north of the border have three more games scheduled, so if you want to see basketball and football combined follow the Canadians at their next game.

Defending Cat diamond crew starts workouts, needs sunshine

by Dave Forsyth
UNIVERSITY associate editor

Batter up! Brigham Young's diamond dupers, two months behind the rest of the conference in practice sessions, finally took advantage of the good weather and started workouts last Tuesday. Lack of fieldhouse facilities put the Cats at an early disadvantage.

The Cougars, defending conference champs after they topped Denver in a two out of three at the high-altitude city last spring, are out after another Skyline skin for their lair.

According to Coach Wayne Soffe the Western Division title race will be a tossup with both Utah State and Utah back with almost intact teams as well as some valuable additions. As far as the conference is concerned, Denver again is going to be a vaunted power with most of their squad back, coupled with some junior college transfers. Colorado A&M and Wyoming will chase the Pioneers down the wire with a good chance to break the tie themselves.

Four lettermen will be missing from this year's line-up: Lynn Powell, semi-regular catcher, graduated as did pitchers Ray Peterson and Nelson Spafford. Merrill Hardy, veteran third baseman left via the mission route.

Back with the Cat nine is Ted Thiel, three year letterman at catcher and unanimous all-conference selection. Hacking him up is Dick Hill, junior and last year's main reserve.

The pitching staff, formidable as that of 49's, will have Glen Clark, George "lefty" Sorenson, Garth Bergeson and Lyle Holder. Soph Tom Ferraro is the top prospect up from the freshman squad.

Cal Crump will again handle the first sacker chores while Dan Bashore will be back at shortstop and Paul Jones at second base. Biggest question mark will be at third base which Merrill Hardy held down last year. Possible candidates are Arden Alpanalp, two year letterman, Carl Tucker, Wayne Cottle, junior college transfers from Weber and LaVonn Satterfield, up from the freshman team.

The outfield is well taken care of with Lyle Koller, Russell Hillman and Dave Weber doing the fly-catching chores. Conrad Judd will also be back.

Elsewhere on the Western slope, Utah State will be back in mass. Led by Bert Cook, soph basketball sensation, and Equire winner at the Chicago all-star baseball game two years ago, the Aggs will lead the race. Among the returning lettermen are Barrett, Stringham, and Caputo. Tom Gobbie, another soph sisab artist, will bolster the Farmers hope with his pitching prowess.

At Utah, the Redskins welcomed who may prove to be the best pitcher in the conference. Max Pesado, hurler who pitched the Hejper, Utah Buffers to the Industrial League title last fall. Mickey Culleton, former Brigham High all-state pitcher, will bolster the Utes who were weak in that department last year. Jim Giverty and Dave Cunningham better known for their basketball and football ability respectively, will round out the infield.

Tennis champs back at school

by Bob Cockett

Fred Dixon, Brigham Young University tennis coach, announced that varsity netballers will be summoned to practice on Monday, March 20.

The Blue and White squad will be one of the best in the school's history if material is any basis of judgment, according to Coach Dixon.

Dick Moody, Rocky Mountain singles champion, and Dick Brower, conference second place winner will lead the 1990 Cougar squad. Ben Galton, John Hilde, La Mar Rawlings and Bob Kirsapack will vie for other top spots on the varsity ladder.

Earl Erickson, Willmer Lee, and Ira Todd, top performers for the 1989 court machine, were lost by the graduation route but the remainder of the Skyline Six championship team is intact.

Home and home meets will feature the season. The conference tournament will be held about the 15th of May.

Trouble, red tape ends happily as senate passes entrance bill

In this topsy-turvy world of international spy trials, the cold war with Russia and the impending threat of the hydrogen bomb, it is encouraging to know that the United States government has time to be human. Although Uncle Sam may appear at times to be a cold blooded individual, he can play Cupid to perfection.

One of the first to testify of this fact is Richard D. S. Kwak, BYU senior. Uncle Sam donned his cupid role when President Harry S. Truman signed a bill on February 15, which will permit a Japanese and marry the former lieutenant.

Richard, who is from Honolulu, Hawaii, was enroute home via Tokyo from army service in Korea, when he met Miss Toriko Tateuchi. They fell in love and the courtship was continued by mail.

After becoming engaged in 1948, Richard secured the help of Sen. Elbert D. Thomas and Rep. Walter K. Granger hoping that they could help get Miss Toriko to America.

It was a slow process but it got results. Sen. Thomas introduced a bill in the Senate March 3, 1949; it was passed July 26, 1949.

It was then referred to the House of Representatives. The next that Richard heard from Washington was a telegram from Rep. Granger saying that the bill had been passed Feb. 7, 1950. A second telegram was received from Sen. Thomas informing Richard that the president had signed the bill Feb. 15, making it a belated but much welcomed Valentine.

Richard is awaiting the arrival of spring for more than one reason. "In the spring a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of love" but in this young man's case the word is "marriage." Because come spring or early summer, the BYU student and Miss Tateuchi hope to be married in the Salt Lake Temple.

Mag manuscripts due 'till March 20

Students have until March 20 to submit their manuscripts for publication in the WYB magazine, students literary publication.

Manuscripts may be placed in the gold mail box in the Joseph Smith Lobby; students are reminded not to mail their letters there, just their manuscripts.

Essays and short stories are particularly requested.

Students are requested to submit their manuscripts in the approved professional manner, typewritten, double-spaced and with identity in a sealed envelope.

Envelopes will be opened only after final decisions have been made.

AWS election petitions

Petitions for AWS officers, president, vice president, secretary and treasurer, will be due Monday, March 13 at 5:00 in the Student Body office. Petitions should include 100 girls' signatures and two 5 by 7 photographs. Primaries are March 23 and 24, and finals are March 28 and 29.

BYU farmers improve cows

Brigham Young University's largest lab is a twenty-four acre plot of fertile ground. The college students using this expanse are animal husbandry majors and others taking agricultural courses.

Grant S. Richards, associate professor of animal husbandry and manager of the BYU farm, says about the little known campus feature, "The purpose of the university farm is to provide practical training for students who are taking classes in our department."

A secondary reason for the dairy ranch is to provide milk for the school cafeteria. Currently the farm, located 3 miles north of Provo, supplies milk for several of the school eating establishments. Ultimately the entire school usage of milk will be taken care of by the "Y" farm.

Twenty cows, six bulls and numerous other farm animals inhabit the 24 acres now. Emphasis is being placed on the raising of quality stock and soon the herds will be greatly increased.

A sub-farm is located within the city limits near Rainbow Gardens, and many acres are planted in hay each year to provide feed for the ranch animals.

Over thirty agricultural classes are now on the BYU circular and most of these use the university ranch for lab work. The standard class consists of three lectures and one afternoon at the farm per week. Professor Henry Nicholas and Instructor Phillip

NO DAVE,

Young farm, located north of the upper campus is Dave Parkinson. The farm, little known part of the agricultural department, is renowned for its fine dairy herd.

Shumway assist Professor Richards in class supervision.

The dairy farm, purchased four years ago next month, offers students a variety of laboratory opportunities. Perhaps the most important non-academic function of the ranch is the artificial insemination program which supplies the area around Provo with choice bull A-1 service. The six bulls owned by the university are among the finest in the state.

One class, offered in the spring, deals with fitting and showing in preparation for horse shows. Each student in the class is loaned a horse to prepare for the state show held during the early summer.

BYU students have done well the past few years and have won several prizes on their animals, according to Professor Richards.

In the future, university authorities hope that the dairy farm will expand both in size and livestock. However, it might be noted that the Brigham Young animal husbandry department is already larger than the Utah State agricultural division located in Logan.

Sweetbriar

82 WEST CENTER

social y'sers

by Bob Crockett

Jan Fenn announced her engagement last week to Johnnie Hilton, recently returned missionary. Modesty, and the fact that over two years have already separated the two "pals" necessitate another substitution for this week's issue of the Year.

The Brigadier social unit danced in "Jardin Espagnol" Saturday evening. Dreamy couples keeping in tune with the South American theme were Howard Johnson and Kay West, Russ Michelson and Von Thomaner, and Davis Bitter and Ellen Schipper. Presy Keth Calderwood naturally escorted Nadine Mitchell.

Another weekend invitation was the Val Hyrie Smorgasbord feast-frolic featuring frat boys Norm Johnson, Bart Christensen and Sam Doxle with the girls of their choice Carol Baker, Anna Whelan, and Shirley Urie.

Some BYU couples need no excuse for a get-together. Even the Tuesday afternoon mat-dance seems to be a convenient rendezvous for Jerry Romney and Bob Kochevar and Bob Anderson and Genie Slander.

Operatic fans for the recent BYU production included Frank Berrett and Shirley Henry and Jack Price and Lillian Schipper.

Don't always believe your Sunday school teachers especially when they rumor that Erma Adams is pinned—as yet she is still foot loose and fancy free, and incidentally that is more than you can say for Joan Pearson concerning Clayton Forsgren.

Campus branch held their annual Gold and Green Ball last Friday. Glenns Despain announced her engagement to Cecil Rieuself to the formal promenade. Ruth Ann Keeler and Gaylen Masters, Frank Wrescher, and Elleanor Weed were among the social set of the campus at the pleasure dance of the season.

The Bowley boys, Dan Clay and Dave Weiser observe that Fred "Shells" Radtkehl, has been developing his harem at that eating establishment. Six buxom blonds to be exact.

Another BYU girl is happy this week. Joanne Parasher and Bud Williams were reunited after a two year separation, due of course to a religious mission.

Social Doings...

LAMBDA DELTA SIGMA

Marilyn Frontier, Omega chapter, is chairman of the LDS talent night scheduled next month. Tommy Schmidt and Marjorie Rosemary have been named chairman for planning a slumber party next week. For the Trouseau Tea, an outstanding event during Spring quarter, Amelia Olsen will supervise table setting for Omega chapter.

Mrs. Potter lectured on "Silk Culture in Utah" for the last Chi chapter meeting.

Phi chapter held a "ceramic" painting party with the Tau chapter, Thursday at the home of Norma Despain. Lilly Glosner is chairman of a swimming party for the Phi and Gamma chapters.

At the last general LDS meeting a special speaker spoke on the "Gathering of the twelve tribes."

GAMMA TAU

Ted Knowlton, Al Holley and Galen Barclay comprise the committee for the Gamma Tau date swimming party which will be a belated-quarter squeeze, Saturday, March 18.

Dani Peterson will be master of ceremonies when Gamma Tau take to the air lines Thursday, March 9, for a 15 minute program over KBYU. The program will include a cello by Dick Fox, vocal solo by Jerry Hedquist and some numbers by a double quartet.

KIA ORA

The Kia Ora club will practice Thursday and Friday at 5:30 below the stage in the Joseph Smith auditorium.

VAL NORN

Val Norn's have Juettene Jennings at the helm for the Vaudeville Show and trust her Irish streak will be a threat to all other participants. With the song fest around the corner, the Val Norns have chosen LaVonne Thomaner as their song leader.

BRIGADIER

The Brigadier social unit is scheduled for a roller-skating party to take the air lines Thursday. Following the skating at Riverside rink, the group will dance at the scout house until 10:00 p.m. The party committee consists of Stan Schindler, Bob Crockett, Belmont Anderson and J. Kent Johnson. Couples will meet at the women's gym at 5:45 p.m. before going skating.

the trend of campus fashion

... is spring apparel of all descriptions. Cottons, sheers, and prints are coming into their own for formal and daytime wear. Spring is really on the way. Campus Branchers were convinced of this when Sally Marley, Los Angeles, California appeared in church Sunday clad in a lavender fluted-avise. A special feature of this charming frock are horizontal tucks around the full gathered skirt.

Another harbinger of spring is Andrew Jones, Vernal, who is especially smart in a red and white polka-dot rayon print. A subtle effect gives added back interest. A navy blue jacket completes the costume.

Raquel Adamson, vivacious coed from Pleasant Grove, shows off the season's popular prints to great advantage. This blue and white tie-silk number is keynoted by a plunging neckline and a peg-top skirt. An added interest are the cuffed raglan sleeves that are among the season's smartest features.

Masculine apparel for spring is highlighted by colorful sportswear... the brighter the better. Take for example the aqua and brown cotton print shirt belonging to Dan Kimball of Pullman. Incidentally, Shirley Lamoreaux deserves credit for the construction.

Girls, please take notice! this guy gets A's in sewing

Who said sewing was a woman's world?

Certainly not anyone who took clothing and construction with Bob Sandstrom this quarter. Recently finishing a beautiful tailored dress of wine wool for his wife, Bob is now constructing a sports shirt . . . for himself.

Interior decorating of fashion designing are Bob's vocational aspirations for the future. In the meantime, the amateur tailor will complete his junior year at Brigham Young University and complete his schooling in a New York fashion institute.

Formerly from Eureka, Bob and his recent bride the former Donna Christensen, are now residing in Orem.

"Never sewed a seam in my life," he said, upon entering the course. Alertness and careful workmanship now marks his work among the hest, his teacher, Margaret S. Foster, reports.

Enlightenment finally came. This mysterious task of the tailor is a marking device stitched with thread . . . rather than metal.

Becoming acquainted with the "lines" of the seamstress was one thing, acquaintance with the troupe of girls in the class was another. Bob came through both phases with flying colors and is now a favorite and familiar figure in clothing lab.

Who said sewing was a woman's world? Bob Sandstrom's future is full of promises for a bright career in the world of fashion.

Free to students and public . . .

Concert chorus, a capella schedule March 12 program

Members of the Brigham Young University Concert Chorus and A Capella Choir will join together Sunday, March 12, to present an outstanding concert of the quarter, according to Dr. John R. Halliday, chairman of the Music Department.

Sharing directing honors for the evening will be Dr. Halliday, director of the Concert Chorus; and Newell Weight, director of the A Capella Choir.

Miss Carolyn Thompson of Malta, Idaho will be featured as soprano soloist of the evening in the performance of "Jubilate, Amen" by Max Bruch. Accompanists for the concert will be Bonnie Moerser, pianist, with J. J. Keeler at the organ.

Professor Leon Dallin, prominent BYU composer will conduct one of his original compositions "Arie, O Jerusalem." The text of his creation is taken from the Book of Mormon.

The Concert Chorus which consists of 107 members and the A Capella Choir consisting of 70 members will perform in the Joseph Smith Auditorium at 8:30 p.m. The presentation is free to both students and the public.

Other numbers on the program include: "Sh'ma Yisroel" (from the Synagogue Service) arranged by A. W. Binder; "Adonai" (based on an ancient Hebrew folk melody) arranged by A. W. Binder; "Teachme Macete Sini," a 16th century Palestine work. "Alleluia" by Randall Thompson.

"Now is the Month of Maying" by Thomas Morley; "Fine Knocks for Ladies," an old Peddler's song by John Dowland; "Lines for Late Autumn" by Anthony Doset; "O Bone Jani" by Palestrina; "Adoramus Te" by Mozart; "Crucifixus" by Bach; "Old Joe Has Gone Fishing" by Benjamin Britten; "Veneration of the Cross" by Bachmann; "Te Deum" by Vaughan-Williams.

The A Capella Choir will sing their interpretation of Noble Cain's "Sweet and Low" and "Alleluia, Christ is Risen" by Kopylov. It will be presented by the Concert Chorus.

Blue Keys ready program, dance for next quarter

The first social event of the Spring quarter will be a program and dance presented by Blue Key, student servant organization. The two-pronged affair will be held on Friday, March 24 with a special program scheduled to start at 7 p.m. in the Smith Auditorium.

The presentation is entitled "Sunrise on the Horizon," with the script written by Max Golightly. Mr. Golightly will be a member as the co-author of the variety show of two years ago "A Significant Spring." Original music for the presentation will be provided by Bob Zahradnik, Audrey Dotson, and Avery Glenn.

The dance will be a heels and hose affair, with music provided by Wes Barry's orchestra. It will be held in the Social Hall immediately after the program in the Smith Building.

Tickets for the show and dance will be $1.50 per couple. Single adults to the presentation will be fifty cents per person, while admission to the dance alone will set a couple back $1.00.

Chairman of the committee arranging the event is Clifford Olmsted, Los Angeles. Committee heads include: production, James Stubbs, Bethesda, Md.; business, Fred Johnson, Vernal; dance, Don Driggs, Stockton, Calif.; and Jack Jones, Pontiac Ill.; publicity, Fred Fitchel, New York City. Mr. Golightly will double as director.

This committee sets regulations

Graduate students at Brigham Young University who have been pondering about just what the requirements are for a thesis and what it must contain, will have to worry no more.

According to Dr. Asahel D. Woodruff, graduate school dean, a faculty committee is now at regulations governing a thesis.

The regulations will cover the following subjects: (1) format and general requirements, (2) what constitutes a thesis, (3) any degrees without a thesis, and (4) how much credit for a thesis.
